

COVID-19 Update

Stronger together: RSVP Supporting Business and Local Community

RSVP has been an advocate and supporter of local businesses for over 30 years, and now is no different. We are committed to providing targeted direct mail solutions to help businesses like yours reach qualified and motivated consumers.

The evolving news around coronavirus (COVID-19) is impacting the way all of us move through our days, both personally and professionally. In this downturn, we are dedicated more than ever to helping brands reach customers and drive growth however we can. All RSVP markets are following best practices provided by the CDC and are monitoring changes as the days unfold. We want you to know that the health and well-being of our communities is of the utmost importance to us and will guide our decisions during this unprecedented time. While we do not anticipate major issues, if there are any changes to our mail schedule, we will notify our advertisers as quickly as possible.

Right now, more of your customers are at home, spending time with their mail. It's an opportunity to get your promotional offers in front of them, share any changes to your hours and offerings, make them offers that get them thinking about the future when the economy rebounds, and stay top of mind so they know you are there for them today and in the future. Let us know how we can support you.
